Our hope is that the letter-writing kit will help Angel Tree children grow in their relationships with God and with their families, supporting the bond between parent and child that has been challenged by incarceration and encouraging them to trust Jesus with their hearts and lives. Positive changes can be observed in a number of ways, such as children/caregivers attending church more, children/caregivers asking questions about God, children displaying more positive attitudes, children having a better relationship with their caregiver, or children having a better relationship with their incarcerated parent.
